

Photos

From left to right: S.E. Card. Gianfranco Ravasi, President of the Pontifical Council for Culture, Robert Hossein, French filmmaker, Remo Girone, actor, President of the Jury of Mirabile Dictu 2012 and Liana Marabini at the Vatican Auditorium.

The speakers of the International Congress "Cinema and New Evangelization" at the Vatican Auditorium. From left to right: Robert Hossein, French filmmaker, winner of the award for longlife achievement, Gianfranco Ravasi, President of the Pontifical Council for Culture, d Liana Marabini, Prof. Antonio Paolucci, director of the Vatican Museums, Remo Girone, actor, President of the Jury of Mirabile Dictu 2012.

Fr. Massimo Manservigi, winner of the award for the Best Documentary "Le 7 chiavi di Antonio Gaudì" - Italy

Andy Garcia (left), winner of the award for the Best Leading Actor, here with co-protagonist Eva Longoria and other actors. The film is "For Greater Glory" - USA, by Dean Wright.

Joan Lewis retires the award for the Best film for young audiences, "The War of the Vendée"-USA- by Jim Morlino.

Spanish distributor Lucia Barandiaran retires the award for the Best Director (Inamculada Hoces, "A Song" - Spain).

Antonio Cuadri, winner for the Capax Dei Foundation Award for the best first film, "Hay mucha gente buena" (Spain).

Robert Hossein, French actor and filmmaker, receives from Liana Marabini's hands the award for a longlife achievement.

The Octagonal Courtyard in the Vatican Museums, prepared for the award ceremony and the gala dinner.